Many Skills Are Needed . . .

To keep a nice looking and clean school we need janitors. They devote lots of time in keeping our school presentable to all. Our Janitors are Buck and Helen Harris.

Lunch time is an enjoyable time for all. The following people help to make this time more delightful: Left to right: Leona Henry, Twila Applehans, Mary Louise Huddleston.

Bus drivers are a very important group of people involved in the school system. They provide the majority of students with transportation to and from school. The Plainview bus drivers are: Left to right: Carl Dilley, Gerald Nix, Duane Strachan, Tim Stahl, Marvin Applehans who is also maintenance man, and Verna Hallock.

...to Run Plainview School

Nurse Nancy James is not always going around sticking bandaids on children's heads. There is also alot of paperwork involved.

A new member of the Tri - County Help and to the Plainview Faculty, Leta Aulston is the new Special Education Teacher.

Not only do we have a new Superintendent at PHS, but also a new Secretary this year. Plainview's new Secretary is Le Anna Clark.

Besides teaching Junior High in the morning, Mrs. Palmer also teaches kindergarten the last half of the day.

KINDERGARTEN

World History seems to be an enjoyable subject for the Senior Class. Here they learn of world history events and the causes of some of the wars. Mr. Reazin teaches both World History and American History.

HISTORY

As the day grows long, so do some of the questions and answers in American History. The Junior class studies the events and happenings of our United States.

Mrs. Tuttle sure has a problem when she's trying to explain how to graph a function, especially when it is clear as mud to the Algebra II class.

MATH

Algebra I can be a trying class at times. Jerene Huddleston finds that working with negative numbers and deciding whether or not a number is "greater than or smaller than" is something to be learned.

By the way Mr. Reazin and Joe Berry look they are surprised by Cecil's answer in Business Math.

ENGLISH

There is a lot to be learned in English I, and Johnny Weber has a good start on diagramming sentences.

A group of Sophomores, Marla Tallman, Billy Smotherman, Kevin Yost and Kathy Smith, enjoy new learning experiences while reading in English II.

English IV consists of Seniors who are getting another English credit for college. Donald Butler, Ken Specht and Annette Morris spend a lot of time bettering their writing skills.

English III can be an interesting class for the Juniors, especially when they don't have any reading or writing to do! Mr. Langston discusses many types of literary books during their class.

HOME ECONOMICS

In 1st hour Home Economics Kathy Smith and Barbara Selby learn some of the basic cooking rules. This class helps a girl plan for her future as either the single working girl or as a house-wife.

Sewing takes a lot of time and talent and Diane Specht learns to use her time wisely during her 7th hour Home Economics class. Mrs. Adamson teaches all Home Economic classes.

Some of the basic typing techniques are learning how to read and type from a book, and not to watch the keys. Kevin Yost, Pam Reinert, Marla Tallman, David Henning and Mrs. Adamson think that Typing I is the place to learn these techniques.

In Typing II, Kathy Smith and Marilyn Neugebauer learn from Mrs. Palmer one of the useful purposes of typing, secretarial work.

TYPING

Girls P.E. class takes advantage of the trampoline offered for the school's use by a Plainview teacher.

PHYSICAL EDUCATION

Elementary P.E. class, instructed by Mr. Palmer, participates in flag games such as Rip Rover.

S H O P

Mr. Dilley, shop teacher, teaches 5 classes of Shop in which he specializes in wood and metal working. Here he shows Ken Specht the proper technique of using the metal cutting torch.

Last hour the girls crafts class works on many different projects. Pat Reinert works on a decoupoges, Tina Hartshorn works on a mint dish, and Debbie Russell works on a grape cluster.

The first six-weeks all of the shop classes, learned how to draft, which is the technique of mechanical drawing, here Wayne Faulconer and Lorin Brown exploit this technique.

Vickie Konecne, Janet Tallman, and Scott Rehfeld use the "Squawk Box" for repetition drill in Spanish I.

SPANISH

Mr. Stremel explains Spanish vocabulary words to his first hour Spanish Class.

BOOKKEEPING

Under the watchful eye of the school piggy bank, and Mrs. Adamson, the Bookkeeping class learns to keep record of their hard earned wages.

Bud Smith, Scott Rehfeld, Don Anderson, Diane Reinert, and Lorin Brown study the properties of acetlyne gas by experimenting with an acetlyne torch.

Mr. Stark shows the Freshmen girls the molecular structure of the atom and explains the function of the parts by use of the overhead projector.

SCIENCE

Janice Specht, Bill Russell, Jim Osborn and Ron Osborn diligently search for the frogs tonsils as they practice dissecting in their science class.

CLASSES

In Speech and Drama the class learned to do pantomimes. Joe Berry becomes an Indian as Cecil Troutman becomes a cactus.

Mr. Palmer, Drivers Education instructor, shows David Henning how to prepare a car for driving. Safety first is stressed at all times.

In Mr. Smith's Psychology class the students really take notes but enjoy the class.

ACTIVITIES

SENIOR PLAY

Aaron Slick From Punkin Crick

On Friday, November 13, 1970, the Senior Class presented a hillbilly comedy titled "Aaron Slick from Punkin Crick." The performance was enjoyable and a delight for the community, as each member of the cast portrayed excellent characterization.

FRESHMEN INITIATION

Freshmen Initiation took place October 16, 1970. Every member in the class and their sponsor were officially Initiated into Plainview High School.

The Seniors had the priviledge of deciding what each Freshman was to wear and as a class they planned a program of funny feats. This initiation was also part of the 1970 Homecoming and Spirit Week Activities.

Current Events

This year the students and faculty started a Current Events contest. Each team consisted of 4 students and 1 teacher (acting as team coach). This contest helped the student learn about and understand national and world events as they happened. There were 28 students, 7 team coaches and 3 judges involved in these contests. The overall winners were Annette Morris, Kelly Morris, David Henning and Lorin Brown with Mr. Langston serving as their team coach.

School Assemblies

The School Assemblies this year have been very interesting and educational. They have consisted of singing and dancing (Belgium Style), a movie on skiing, dog and goat tricks and acrobatic stunts.

We use School Assemblies to broaden our knowledge of world talents.

These assemblies are enjoyed by the whole student body.

Christmas Party

The High School, Jr. High, and Grade school, alike, all enjoy a party, and Christmas is the time everyone likes best.

Wondering what to do next . . .

. . . sharing the feelings of Christmas . . .

. . . visiting with Santa Clause . . .

. . . searching for hidden wonders . . .

Elementary P.E.

Mr. Palmer has many enjoyable activities for the students in the elementary P.E. program.

Trying out a borrowed trampoline was one of their first activities.

Running, bumping, and jumping takes place when you get a group of active youngsters together for a rowdy time of "flag catch."

A LOOK AT THE HAWKS ON THE COURT

There were twenty-three athletes out for Hawk basketball this year. The Hawks worked hard all season staying in shape and improving their play-making in order to put together a winning team. The Hawks ended their regular season play with an 11 win and 7 loss record. In all their games the Hawks fought hard and never gave up even though they were behind.

Coming to a Hawk basketball game is a hair-raising experience.

At times the Hawks showed patience and worked for the open shot.

This year the Hawks were backed by a big, reliable bench.

When an opponent puts up a shot the Hawks are all in to rebound.

Yes, the girls, led by Coach Judy Tuttle, were undefeated in the four games in which they participated. The girls were able to accomplish this feat by putting in hours of practice. In these practices they conditioned themselves so they wouldn't get tired and could take the physical punishment under the boards. They spent a lot of time developing their shooting in order to improve their defense and teamwork. The results of these efforts as we have already said was an undefeated season.

The girls worked very hard in practice developing good team work in order to win their games.

Coach Tuttle even got into the action by supplying expert officiating in order to keep the quality of play high.

GIRLS BASKETBALL TEAM GOES UNDEFEATED

The girls showed lots of hustle and desire to get the basketball, so naturally the action got a little rough at times.

JR. HIGH BASKETBALL

JR. HIGH ACTION

Gerry Nix looks for an open man as Irl Quinby and Rick Appelhans wait for the ball.

in conclusion

Although this page brings to an end our annual, the people graphically portrayed herein are just on the horizon. Knowledge and education are forever changing and enlarging. The search for more meanings will continue for eternity.
