THE END

TEACHER OF THE YEAR

Ruth A. Fees

We, the Publications Class, would like to dedicate this 1980 Hawk to Miss Ruth Fees. Miss Fees was chosen by the student body to be the Teacher of the Year. Miss Fees has dedicated many hours to PHS. She is loved by the students for her devotion and her poetry. Although she gives hard English assignments, the students of PHS enjoy her classes.

SENIORS OF 1980: A BLEND OF OPPOSITES

As eighth graders, they sat attentively in my last hour English class, waiting, once again, to hear the "do's and don't's" --- this time from a new teacher. I didn't disappoint them.

A class not easily understood --- always offering me a challenge.

I recognized ... Opposites blended together
Searching eyes ... wandering eyes ...

Questioning minds ... uninterested minds ...
How can they be reached?

Some easily as they were extremely receptive --- reaching out for answers.

Others difficultly because they were off in a dream --- wanting to go it alone.

Far from predictable --- a class always doing the unexpected ---

(Most refusing to fit into a pattern fashioned by those before them.

-not all, though-some willing to sit back complacently and accept what others said and did --- possibly waiting for the "right" time)

but expected to conform --- to be like other classes.

Where do I fit in? Should I try?

--- not wanting to stifle --- only wanting to encourage them to reach out for challenges ...

to question 'till they find what is right for them.

All leaders in their own way --- they sit anxiously, attentively before a sea of faces listening to the advice and direction of those who are more experienced in the "ways of the world."

Fearful yet courageous --- ready to accept any challenge --- their challenge knowing the future is theirs to mold.

Ruth A. Fees

1979-1980: A SCHOOL YEAR OF SURPRISES, JOYS, AND SORROWS

The year began as most school years do:

work days, schedules, bulletin boards, meetings, dinners, endless hours of preparations,

And finally the first day with some students willing to learn, but others daring to be taught.

Unlike most years, the year presented more than its share of surprises, joys, and sorrows --- a streaker one school afternoon, a 5-3 football season, league volleyball winners, boys' league and subdistrict champions, consolation at the Eads Academic Bowl, many band accolade, a long but wet spring vacation, district disappointments --- both boys and girls ---, not enough time too many examinations and too much homework, moments of doubts and pensive thoughts, graduates leaving PHS never to return as students and finding their own ways, farewells and hellos to an open-armed future.

The school year ended with cleaning lockers and rooms, handing in books, pulling fire alarms, attending award nights, recording and receiving grades,

And finally watching, remembering, and praying for the seniors --- twelve anxious and daring young men and women --- ready to take on "the greatest adventure" of their lives.

One to be cherished and remembered --- both good times and bad- the year will become a part of those that have faded into the past.

But will stand separately because of all the unique remembrances of events and friends each of us has had.

I know you girls are full of ideas for poor little me.

Don't you sass me, young lady!

So I've decided to stay right here till that Smith guy shows up.

And I've invited the entire band to come here and see Dudley Harvard Smith!

Don't try to get away!

Do you think little Madeline is cute?

Seems a patient from the Cedar Heights Sanitarium escaped this morning.

Now's my chance to escape.

I wish Madeline would wake up.

Where-where am I?

Gosh, I've got a girl and I can still talk.

Jess, there's no one, no one but you.

They're worried if they hurt each other.

Don't be shy, Davey.

I love heroic men!

Well, I guess your mother wins again.

Lottie with a stiff back.

I wouldn't make a fool of myself over any man!

Let go of me, doggone it!

She's just a child.

CARNIVAL

"Don't you do it!"

"3 for a quarter"

"Gotcha' now, Dr. Lathrop!"

"Oh! That's cold."

"You just wait!"

"I don't need to shave!"

"Fish with the Freshmen."

"Oh! That hurts!"

"Grab a fish and win a prize."

"Help! I'm drowning."
