Class Motto-To dream anything that you want to dream,

That is the beauty of the human mind.

To do anything that you want to do,

That is the strength of the human will.

To trust yourself to test your limits,

That is the courage to succeed.

Poem to the Seniors,

Our last year has gone by,
The thought makes us all want to cry.
For twelve years we've tried hard,
To get a good grade on each report card.
Now there's only one more to go,
Then we're in the real world for the big show.
All of the good times we have had together,
Will stay in our minds like a bird to a feather.
The end has come to us all too soon,
It is the rising and falling of the moon.
We can't be stopped from going separate ways,
But we can still get together on certain days.
Yet the saddest thing that brings a tear,
Is leaving friends who have always been near.
A word of advice to those who have another year,

Make it your best 'cause your end will be here.

SENIOR WILLS

-I Steve Rybacki, will my ability to Clint, to run more than one lap without falling over dead. To flush the toilet in the restroom to the few underclass people who have yet to be pottie-trained. To Clint to laugh at a good joke without spitting all over myself. I also will my backbone to Clint Robertson.

-I Brent Barlow, will to Wes Eikner my ability to cause trouble during school hours and not get wrote up. To certain Freshman girls, my ability to keep personal things to myself.

-I Chad Rouse my ability to smooth talk women, to Kevin Davis. My ability to get all of my Trigonometry assignments done to all of the math class. My ability to stay in school to certain students who didn't.

-I Ronnie Ridgeway will my ability to Tuck, Brad, and Jared to drive at lunch and not wreck. To Mike Ramsay to go to prom and dance with your date Kylie W. To Hallie Barlow to stay out of the hospital and to stay well.

-I Derek Beneden my ability to get caught smoking 3 times. To dog most of the girls for complaining to the boys. To the boys for not taking any stuff off the girls.

-I David Grivois will to certain freshmen my ability to bathe once a day, and to get out of this town to anyone who wants it. To not "wimp out" and "complain" when it comes to the mile relay to Leroy Rittgers. To Renee Barlow, to go out with a guy for more than three weeks.

-I R.J. Stavely will my ability to get good grades without studying a lick to everyone who can't make the C honor roll. To knock the $*! out of people on the football field to anyone under 130 LBS. To move to a new town and make all kinds of friends to the Senior girls.

-I Melinda Walker will my ability to have fun in high school to everyone.

-I Tiffany Koehler will my ability to get a car to Lori Frazee and to the goody goodies of EHS to find trouble without any effort.

-I Kristi Baxter will my ability to play basketball to Mattea and Lisa, to Hallie not to blow a persons contact lens to the back of their eyes, to Karen to wrestle without being overly offensive.

-I Rita Martinez will my ability to Erica Eikenberg to be able to put up with everybody on the bus for three more years.

-I Sanna Loukonen will my ability to everybody in EHS, to constantly be around Aaron and not kill or seriously injure him, to all the girls, to forgive lying, cheating, cold dead beating, two timing, double dealing, mean and mistreating boyfriends.

-I Jason Briggs will my ability to Matt Weber to skip school and go fishing; to anyone who'll take it, my ability to take all of the messing around that goes on in EHS; to Jared Stoker and Greg Pearl my ability to blow up an egg in the microwave during careers class.

-I Karen Eikner will my biting ability to all of the EHS girls so that they may protect themselves from all of the EHS boys; to any who can handle the embarrassment, my ability to accumulate fifteen nicknames in four years.

-I Shae Haskell will my loud voice and spirit to all upcoming cheerleaders, to all the shy, quiet people, my talkativeness, and to anyone who needs it, my ability to flirt.

-I Clint Robertson will my ability to BA to catch a double header without complaining, to Steve Rybacki to play baseball, to Monti C., Tyler S., and Jared S. to see how many times they can be sent to Monter's office, and to some of the Senior girls to keep their nose out of other people's business.

FACULTY & STAFF

In reflecting on a school year, we will often look back to see what was accomplished or completed. The school year 1993-94 should be viewed differently. We should ask: "What was begun?"

Students and staff alike have had to adjust to program reductions forced by fiscal exigencies. Both groups have responded admirably. We have posted perennially high marks on the standardized achievement tests. The athletic squads have again done well, with the girls winning another basketball title along the way. These are notable and should be celebrated. However, we should not overlook the strides made in updating the school's ability to provide a better education in the area of technology and computers. This is not an event-it is more akin to an ongoing process. Nonetheless, reaching a goal requires taking a first step. School year 1993-94 should be remembered for taking that first big step. The benefits from this should begin to be realized as early as school year 1994-95.

The Lady Eagles basketball team set out for the state basketball tournament at Ft. Collins with a goal. Hidden, even from the coaching staff, was the confidence and determination of this team.

Kristi Baxter showed more confidence in all games at state than ever before. Her shooting percentage was remarkable. Kristi shot when she had it, passed when she didn't and drove to keep the opponents honest. She also had sixteen assists for the tournament to compliment her scoring.

Kim Kreutzer scored well, hitting double figures in championship games, but she really stood out in the rebound department. Kim owned the boards throughout the tournament and so she kept the opponent from getting the rebounds.

Laurie Reystead directed the attack admirably. She stayed in control and shot well enough to make the defense respect her. Laurie attacked the basket, and when covered dish off for some great assists.

Jennifer Johnson had her highest scoring game of the year in the state semi-final. She showed tremendous confidence in her shooting all three nights, and made the opponents pay when they concentrated their defense elsewhere.

Amanda Wyatt scored in double figures in two of the three games, but really shined defensively. Her task was to stop the leading scorer on each team we played. Along with playing great defense, Amanda also was a big factor in controlling the boards.

Colleen Rehm stepped in during each of the three games when we got into foul trouble and gave us some quality minutes. Colleen played tough defense, worked the boards well, and hit some crucial free throws.

The three freshman, Desiree Brown, Kylie Weirich, and Hollie Lindholm received some valuable experience. Hopefully they will be able to use this experience to their advantage in the future.

As a coach I would like to thank the fans for their support. A big thank you goes to the booster club for their donation for meals. Thank you Miss Moyle and the EHS band. I appreciated Rod Johnson giving us the benefit of his knowledge of Ft. Collins and also his parents for opening their home to us before the final game. Thank you!!

Student Life

Kim and Chad show their true feelings for each other.

Back-to-school dance sponsored by EHS STUCO.

Mrs. Pryce trying to keep Celena calm and under control.

Desiree shows how much she cares for our school.

Greg, Melinda, and John are actually paying attention!

Designed and paid for by Eads Fellowship of Christian Athletes, a non-school sponsored group

FCA'ers enjoy outings to the Air Force Academy, Arkansas Valley Mini-Conferences, providing Cowboy Church Service, See You At The Pole Prayer times, and great huddles
