The sophomores had a fun year. The home coming candidates were Robby Crain and Tina Dunagan, but unfortunately, came up short in the final vote. A couple of people came and some left. But they are the same class no matter what. Only two more years left and they are ready for graduation. They are glad the concession duty is done for this year, even though it earned a lot of money for them. They are definitely ready for next year.

The freshman class experienced lots of new things this year. They went through the torture that the seniors put them through during initiation. They will be looking forward to the 2001-2002 school year where they will climb one rung higher on the ladder that is known as high school. But the freshmen will look back on this year for the rest of their lives and remember what it was like to be a freshman in high school.

2000-2001 Volleyball

The volleyball team this year was led by the team captains Jamie Carney and Christy Hopkins. The two captains led the team of nine through some very hard games and practices. There were four newcomers to the team and five returning players. They had a very good season and succeeded in many wins. They accomplished one of their biggest goals and that was making it to second round in districts, which hasn't been done in a few years. This was very exciting for the team, as well as for all of their supporters.

Hawk Football

With only six games played this year the Hawks were extremely focused. Leading the offense was Sean, Randy, Justin, and Casey. While Chris, Brandon, and Brady were the backbone of the defense when they needed it. While playing hard the Hawks youngsters gained valuable playing time. The Hawks veterans had a very fun and exciting year. With the experience the younger players gained throughout the season, Hawk Football will be back strong for next season.

Fight to the Finish

In the season of 2000-2001, the girls basketball season was tough but the girls had a lot of fun. The team consisted of five players: Jamie Carney, Misty Stum, Trista Harris-Shalberg, Megan Fickensher, and Kami Stum. These five players were very dedicated to the sport, and the team. Jamie Carney was the team captain and proved to be very capable. This year's team was known as the feisty five. Various teams around the league gave this name to them. The girls worked and fought hard all year long.

Hawk Basketball Revived

Hoops

00-01

The Hawks had an outstanding season this year. With Seniors Randy Williams and Justin Crain leading the team, the Hawks hit the .500 mark for the first time in years. The Hawks surprised a lot of teams with their ability to take it to them no matter what the odds were. The season was fun and a very memorable one for the departing seniors. Coach Wilson is looking forward to next season with three returning starters and a very able bench.

High School Baseball

The Hawks 2000-2001 baseball team consisted of many players playing the sport for the first time. The Hawks had a new very spirited coach in coach Kinnaman. Coach Kinnaman, showed great enthusiasm to a barrage of new players. Even though the Hawks did not have many check marks in the "W" column they made great strides towards improving their baseball skills. The Hawks are hoping to carry this new enthusiasm and spirit into future years.

HawksTrack

High SchoolTrack

This year's track season was short. The Hawks only had five meets to go to with the exception of Regional. Those who qualified for the regional track meet were Tanner Nolan in the 800 and the 2 miles, Kami Stum in the 400, Jamie Carney in the mile and Caitlyn Murray in the 200 meter dash. Tanner will be the only person attending the state meet. He will be competing in the 800-meter dash.

The team was one of the largest since Coach Q has been here. There were twelve people out for the team. The team was made up of mainly boys but the four girls did push the boys in practice and most of the time won. The team was happy to have all but one of the foreign exchange students go out.

The 2000-2001 Hawk Cheerleaders possessed spirit throughout the year under the helm of Mrs. Hopkins. The cheerleaders were quite busy planning pep rallies and decorating anything and everything. The squad did an excellent job getting the crowd involved at the sports events. Fashion is what cheerleaders are all about. Therefore, they sold candles over the summer in order to purchase new "stylin" uniforms. All in all the girls were determined and showed a great desire to cheer.

SOMETHING OUT OF THE BRAIN

Our Knowledge Bowl A Team reached the State Finals with a superior 2nd place finish at districts in Lamar. The team had a blast at state and came home with an 8th place finish. The B-Team gave its best, too, and finished second at the Cheyenne Wells competition. All in all every team member looks back on a fun year.

2000- 2001 was the first school year ever that the Plainview High School had foreign exchange students. They started out with only three at the very beginning of the school year, but they just kept coming. They came from everywhere in Europe: France, Russia, Czech, Slovakia & Germany. Some of them left us after the Christmas break but Jan, Stéphane, Daniel, Maros and Katja stayed until the very end. Katja, Daniel, Stéphane and Jan were Seniors. They had a blast at Plainview while making new memories.

Treasure Island

The Treasure hunt is on

Treasure Island was a fun play that Mrs. Fink chose for the entire elementary to do. Students chose their own parts. Some of the students had very large roles in the play, but they all did very well. Each student put in time and effort after school to make their play possible.

High School Choir

This year is the first year for a long time that Plainview has had a Choir. Mrs. Fink was the choir teacher who took these few students and turned them into a great musical group. The choir performed at a few retirement homes and they also performed at the Greeley County Hospital. The choir performed a spring concert and then turned into more of a band.

At The Hop

For the spring concert the Choir class decided to perform an act from the sixties. The theme went over really well as all of the students came up with their own outfits. Mrs. Fink had a lot to do with the theme but for the most part the girls did everything else. Trista, Christy and Caitlynn made the background and the guys helped hang them up.

Prom 2001

"In The Moment"

Although some were sceptical at first, Prom 2001 turned out to be a night to remember. For the first time in many years, Prom was held in Lamar, at the Cow Palace Inn. All in all, it was a great time, filled with laughs and memories that will live long in the hearts and minds of those who attended.

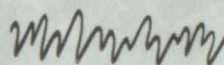

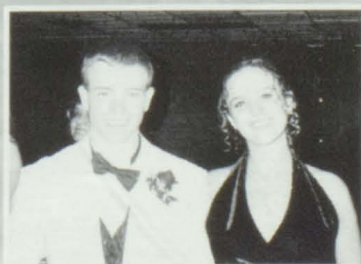

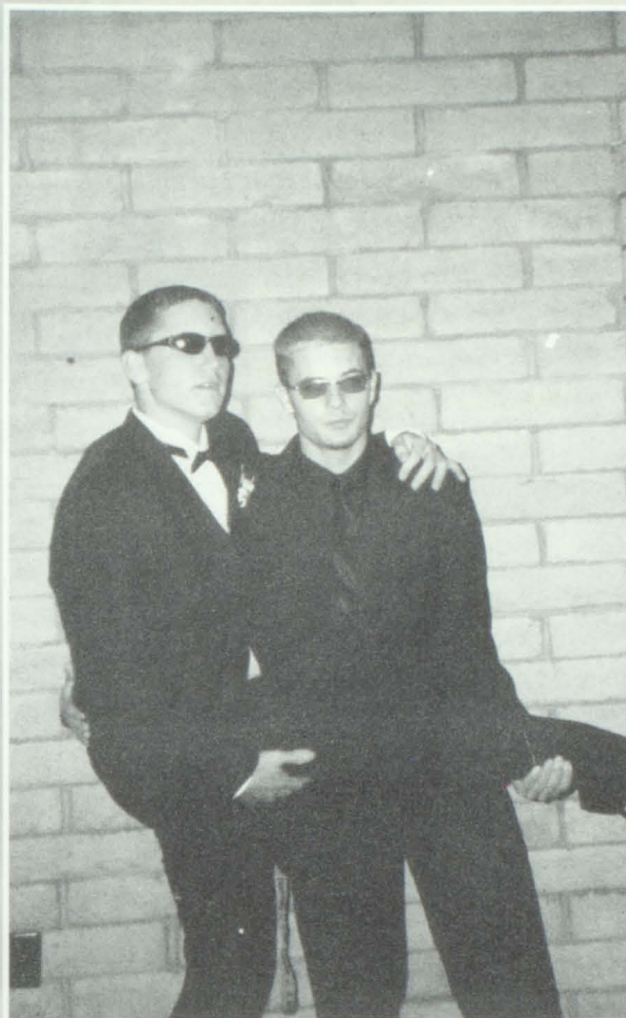

Prior to the dance, the juniors invited the seniors to a lovely banquet held at Blackwell Station. The seniors' wills were read, and Mr. Pape read his carefully thought-out prophecies while everyone enjoyed their dessert. Soon, the prom-goers headed to the Cow Palace to take pictures and await the beginning of the dance.

After the Grand March, complete with the falling hourglasses, many of the parents cleared out and the dance began. Before long, nearly everyone made an appearance on the floor, "getting down" on something fast, or "getting close" during a slow song.

About halfway through the evening, the Prom King and Queen were announced. Justin Crain was crowned King and Christy Hopkins was awarded the title of Queen. After the pair had danced about halfway through Shaggy's "Angel," the theme song, the dance floor filled with couples.

The dance continued without incident until the final five songs, when the dance floor became crowded as everyone wanted to dance those last few dances. Before long, the night was over, and we were left with only bittersweet memories of Prom 2001.

Memories

Out of ...8

The 7th grade is very ready to be 8th graders where they can officially rule the junior high ranks. With Cassie Harris as president, and Mac Higbee as vice president they should be quite ready for the prestigious 8th grade. Michael Berggren has bigger worries with the money. He guards the money with his life. Jason Freouf will be representing the class in the very fun organization of STUCO. The 7th graders have been very heavily involved in reading this year. They now are ready to take on the world, or at least the 8th grade.

The 8th grade has enjoyed being at the top of the junior high this year. They have done many exciting things under the powerful, President Felisha Nolan. With Vicki Specht as vice-president, and the Treasurer being Miranda Weber, the class is hoping to have bundles of money when their senior sneak rolls around. Spaghetti bridges have been a very huge focus of the students in the very famed science class. Volcanoes are always of interest to young junior high students. This is why the 8th graders are greatly excited about explosions! The 8th graders are also greatly excited about the "g" word, GRADUATION. They will soon be in high school, that much closer to being graduated for good!

The 6th graders learned a lot this year on American history, the revolution and the Constitution. The students wrote reports, made posters and gave a presentation to their parents. They studied the periodic table, atoms classification of matter in science. English was full of complex sentences, writing and speeches. In math, they worked on fractions, decimals, and shapes. They said good-bye to Chris Cook who left the 25 of January. Ashlee Shields won the junior high spelling bee and will be representing Plainview at the state competition in Denver.

Junior High Girls Basketball

The Junior High Girls had a very Challenging season. With such a young and inexperienced team, the older players had to step up and take control. Even though their record wasn't the best, the girls were a great team with a lot of heart and determination. Good Job girls!

The Junior High Track season was very jumbled and sparse. They went to four meets and had one re-scheduled twice before canceling. Even with all this the kids still had lots of fun and tried very hard.

This year our fourth graders studied Colorado History and learned the states and regions of our country. They improved their math skills with long multiplication and division. In music, Mrs. Fink taught them to play instruments. Together with the third graders they visited the Colorado Museum of Natural History in Denver.

"Learning the basics" was the 1st grade's program. Life turned serious for all of them. Important things like learning to read and to spell words were on this year's schedule and were the reason for first homework assignments. But fun didn't come too short. Language jingles were a great learning help and the best 1st grade experience was recess.

Even the kinders learned about the 2000 general election. In a mock election, they elected G. Bush. They learned the numbers by counting the days they had spent at school. The 100th day in school was a big one. Everybody brought things from home that related to the number 100. All in all the first year at school was a good one and they are looking forward to next year.
