"Honestly I don't know what I am going to do or be when I "grow up." I know that I want to follow Christ and do whatever it is He calls me to do. Until I know what that is, I am going to attend LCC and get my associate of science and possibly pursue a career in marine biology or veterinary science."

Morgan Bledgett

"It seems to be a going thing to ask a senior what she is going to do with her life. My answer? Hopefully live. I want to make a difference and that is all I know for sure. As far as school goes, I am in that mind-set of going into cosmetology. I want people to see how beautiful they really are. I would like to back this career up with photography. Starting with my clients from the bottom up."
"Fear Not: Without change there would be no butterflies."

Ms. Fees has been the sponsor of the Class of 2014 for years. Her dedication to and hard work for this class was greatly appreciated.

The senior class of 2012 was a unique one. They had their share of moments at Plainview. Though they had their spurts of "senioritis," Plainview was a large part of their lives, and they are moving on. Good luck seniors! Go out and do something AWESOME!

Her goals for the future include going to Calvary Bible College to get a bachelor's degree in Biblical Counseling with a minor in Personal training. And then later she hopes to get her Masters in Physical Education from Emporia Online. "My dream is to become a coach and a witness for Christ at the same time. It would be just amazing doing the thing I love for the ONE I love!"
Quinton seems intrigued with whatever is happening to his right.

Top Left:
VJ looks THRILLED to be having his picture taken.

Middle Left:
Someone needs to tell Quinton that his pencil is for writing... not for whatever he intends on doing with it.

Bottom Left:
Justin displays his fancy Beats in order to listen to music prior to a game.

---

1/30/14
Quinton and Justin thought they were sooooooo cool when they showed off their cell phones in school and Quinton's fell into a bowl of cereal.

4/5/14
Poor Justin was getting mauled by a group of little children on the school ski trip.

5/1/14
Setting up prom was fun—and a lot of work—and it all turned out great!
Seth stares off into space, a rather normal stance for him.

Top: Elizabeth Wright smirks in the library.

Middle: Austin Healy gives us the peace sign in Mr. Pope's room.

Bottom: Ashley Clyncke works on her math in the science room. Way to hit the books, Ashley!!

11/12/13
First time working concessions—it was hard work, but we pulled through.

5/22/14
We came together for the senior carnival and succeeded with the Dunk Tank and the Cake Walk.

8/26/13
New student Austin Healy graciously tried hiding from the camera, but we got him!

Austin Healy poses in his 1000 Pound Club t-shirt in Mr. Pope's room.

Seth makes a funny face during science class.

Josh shows just how awesome he is with another one of his "special" poses.
Top: Eric seems to be having issues with the camera.
Middle: Jared attempts to block the camera shot; someone must be a little shy!
Bottom: Ryan is being goofy and making faces...again.

12/11/13
Jared gave a speech of epic proportions about being mauled by a rabid tumbleweed.

2/13/14
The freshman got to enjoy being initiated with dress-up days.

2/15/14
Eric hurt his wrist in warmups during basketball, but it didn’t stop him from playing the game at Bethune!

Looking way too excited for school, Jared Wanderlingh gets ready to do some mathematics.

Eric shows that he too can somewhat cram himself into a locker...the question is, can he get out?

Ryan is caught off guard by the camera...either that or 10,000 volts have been sent through his body.

Painting to something on the bulletin board, Josh Blodgett gives his best " creeper " face
Gross Who: The freshman were all babies for a day! (Binkies included.)

Top: Eric appears to be having trouble staying on his scooter.

Middle: Eric and Joshua seem to be otherwise occupied with that bowl of whipped cream.

Bottom: While sliding around on scooters, the boys had no pull themselves with plungers and were having problems staying on them.

2/10/14
WAHHHHHHH! The freshman were all babies for a day! (Binkies included).

2/13/14
A search! A search for the missing gum in the body of whipped cream!

2/13/14
The freshman dove into a vat (or bowl) of chocolate syrup.

Josh and Eric go-a-bobbing for gummy worms in whipped cream and chocolate syrup. They look like they're enjoying that way too much!

Josh tries his best to get the gum out of the bottom of the pan.

Josh foolishly trusts someone to drop eggs in cups that they are holding steady on their foreheads. Good job, gentlemen!

Josh and Eric try to get donuts off of a string.
Grant attempts to hide himself in a locker. Yes, he seems to fit perfectly!

Top: Lydia pretends to be bashful in Ms. Fees' class.

Middle: Justin falls asleep in class...again... BUSTED!!

Bottom: Nick is being weird and messing around... as usual.

1/12/14
Grant heard Nick's evil plan to kill King Justin the Fourth.

5/5/14
Nick jumped off of one of Mr. Pape's desks...with a fractured foot in a cast!

5/22/14
The eighth graders enjoyed their last day of junior high!

Grant, you may want that hair for later...

Lydia gives the camera the "look" in English class.

Grant hides in his coat...again.
Lisa looks pretty focused on the task at hand in English class.

Top: The person running the camera apparently stuck up on Kayla.

Middle: Mercedes Baker happily stands in front of Mr. Pape's copy of the Constitution.

Bottom: Lisa works diligently on her schoolwork in Ms. Fees' class.

5/6/14
A very "bacony" breakfast was cooked for first period Life Skills.

11/23/13
Rance spent a whole day just annoying everyone.

2/3/14
Kayla's sleeping was obvious when she started snoring in English class.

Rance does something that is so unlike him: Talking while attempting to work in the English room.

Kayla attempts to hide the fact that she is eating chocolate in Ms. Fees' class.

A not-so-happy Kayla gives a stare-down.

Rance looks a little tired in class, doesn't he?
Fifth and Sixth Grades

{Classes of 2020 and 2021}

Athena got hit in the face with a dodgeball... TWICE!

Savannah gives a lovely smile to the camera.

Top: Athena tries not to look too guilty during class.

Middle: Japheth works very hard on his project.

Bottom: Zack seems not the least bit happy his picture is being taken.

10/16/2013

HOLY COW!!!! ONE HUNDRED AND FIFTY-TWO FEET! Yeah, that was measuring necklaces.

3/5/2014

Athena got hit in the face with a dodgeball... TWICE!

3/27/2014

"I think it's five"

Olivia greets the camera with a peace sign.

Alex claims that we don't know him when in fact, we do!

Rooney gives Alex bunny ears.

Kayden wears her Steelers get-up for Homecoming Week.
Third and Fourth Grades
{Classes of 2022 and 2023}

Emma being... Emma tells Victoria “works hard” for the 4H concession stands.

Middle: ORyan is surprised while he is supposed to be working.

Bottom: David looks very smart as he reads his dictionary.

11/12/2013
Baking cookies is super fun, but it’s even more fun when you make them with Kristin and Miss G.

1/30/2014
Science fair is hard, but at least all the hard work paid off!

4/8/2014
We had a rare opportunity to watch the Koshare Indians dance at Bent’s Old Fort.

ORyan shows off on the top of the rock wall.

Zoie enjoys the sun and the wind on the playground during recess.

Emma shows off one of her many faces.

Third and Fourth Grade 13
First and Second Grades

{Classes of 2024 and 2025}

Elia and Janae chilling in art, drawing (Elia apparently working with a broken arm).

Top: Elia and Janae messing around in the classroom.

Middle: The First and Second grade drawing picture.

Bottom: Ky showing off his art.

Second Grade

2-12-14
Elia and Janae both broke their right arms.

4-28-14
Joey tried to climb up the wall.

5-8-14
Elia proved to be a master bubble blower on the playground.

Wesly Fehr displays his frog for the camera... at least we think it's a frog.

Aidan Clark and Mary Kathryn Votruba show their book.
Jazzylyn doing something "artzy" during class.

Top: Isaac and Gabby play with the market board in Mrs. Kraft's room.

Middle: Katelyn seems mesmerized by her Barbie doll at playtime.

Bottom: Rachel dresses as a homeless person for Halloween wearing her "Will Work For Candy" sign.

- 9-10-14: Maggie swallowed a fly and gagged for an hour.
- 1-21-14: While playing super heroes, Tyler died and Gabby laid her head on him and said, "Come back to us, Tyler. We need you!"
- 5-8-14: Chilling at the beach party!!!

Katelyn and Logan pose for the camera in the school gymnasium.

Logan runs across the playground while wearing his fancy vest.

Some People have a way of having a good time, and luckily for the Plainview bunch, they know how to have a GREAT time. They spend time with their families and the people who care. Some play on the summer baseball team, some go camping or swimming, and some spend their quality time with the people who make them the goofballs they are. The best time to do that is over SUMMER VACATION—when you have all day to do whatever you want with your days. This is WAY better than what you could do on the weekends during school. During summer vacation, you can go anywhere and be who you want to be, and the Plainview community encourages it. So during the summer, grab a bike or a football, or maybe a baseball and a bat, and go outside and enjoy what little time you have before school comes back, and make some summer moments for yourselves.
Coach Nate Dorow helps with summer baseball.

Ella Splitter seems to be eating her glove, getting some good nutrition.

Josh Blodgett gets a little dirty at the annual Mud Runs.

Rachel Ossola shows all her summer giggles and smiles.

Jazzlyn Ossola holds and shows off her new baby brother.

Emma and Japheth Frey hang out at a baseball game.

Jee went to Bishop's Castle in the mountains and had a great time.

Kristin and her cousin Samantha were being as goofy as ever.

Austin moved to Towner and joined all of us "cool" kids.

Ethan started a great season of baseball which was his last.

Alyssa went to Rural Bible Crusades Camp in Wisconsin!!

Dee Dee spent some time with her sister.

The Team sits on the bench awaiting the game.
Holiday Time
Food, Family and Fun!

Halloween, Christmas, Valentine's Day and Easter... what do they all have in common? Food! Oh, they're all holidays, too. Holidays are obviously very well known for how they bring a family together, as well as how they are able to be a bonding experience between the students who participate in the school's holiday parties and activities. Not to mention all of the wonderful home-cooked meals that are presented during the majority of these holidays. (Admit it, the food is the best part.)

Fun is also important during the holidays though! Although it may not be the normal kind of "fun." (Possibly the type of "fun" that consists of dressing up as zombies and trying to bite people.) But it's the thought that counts!

"Forever Young, Forever Living, Forever Us."

Times are constantly changing. The teenagers of Plainview manage to keep up to date. Whether it be snapchatting, finding the funniest Youtube video, or adjusting to the latest dress code that the older generation has managed to come up with, you will find it at Plainview. The student body keeps up to date on all the "this century" trends, including the odd but hilarious lingo used to keep teachers from knowing what they're really talking about!

How do you like your WORMS? Joey seems pretty interested in finding out the flavor of a gooey, slimy worm.

There is no other place to be able to have fun and be with your friends while you let your imagination run wild. It's better to cherish "best friend" memories now and possibly throughout your future years as a Plainview Hawk so that when you grow up you may look back on all of the fun adventures that you endured with your childhood best friend. There is no doubt that the future generations at Plainview will have just as much of a great time—if not more—than those of the past. However, WE think those memories will stay with YOU forever.
Harkness digs for worms with his friends Caey Stum and Joey Specht. Selena Fehr smiles for the camera.

"Laughing at Mariah while she got stuck under the rock wall on the playground."
- Thomas Specht {Junior}

"Swinging with my best friend when the swing had broken and we both went flying in opposite directions."

"When I was in 4th grade, I remember making a snowman with Kristin and Katelyn. We were so proud of that snowman!"
- Alyssa Splitter {Senior}
Best Friends Forever and Always: Kristin, Katelyn, Morgan, and Alyssa, you couldn’t ask for a group of friends so “tight.”

School isn’t just about the classes, though some would think so; the best part of school is the time spent with friends. Many memories students make during these times will stick with them FOREVER.

At Plainview, students do many different things when not in class. Morning school bus rides create fun times for everyone. Lunch time brings food (and who doesn’t like food), basketball, and for some comes quiet time in the library. And even though the breaks in between classes are short, a lot can happen to make lasting memories.
7:48 A.M.

Students enjoy their freedom while they still have it before school starts.

11:45 A.M.

The countdown to lunch is almost over. Only three more minutes!

12:01 P.M.

To the gym! Students go head-to-head in a basketball game, just like every other day.

12:10 P.M.

SOMEBODY'S WATCHING! Students think they are alone in the student lounge, but little do they know that Candi is watching them on the security camera.

2:07 P.M.

Rushing through the hallway, students attempt to get to class on time.

4:00 P.M.

It's a mad dash for the doors as everyone runs for the exit, trying to get out of the school as fast as possible.

If Looks Could Kill...

For some students at Plainview, weird faces are natural. Medals should be awarded for these feats of freakdom. So beware as you view these pictures, some of them may scar.
"Student Council- For the ones who decided to stop waiting for things to happen and made them happen."

It is a place where real world ethics meet those of high school life. It is the moment when one realizes they actually have to do something aside from doing their day-to-day activities. These are the students who wish to put a little more effort in their lives that participate in student council. Led by Miss Greenfield, they are advised and guided to make the best decisions they can to help improve the school that hopefully helps to guide them to a better life. That is the place where one would find the student council, always trying to actively create a better place to learn and grow.

Our Time Together As A Student Body
In a school with less than one hundred students, you would think all things are small. Plainview is referred to as the "blink and you miss it" school. A school all its own with its own challenges. People passing by do not get the opportunity to look inside. The spirit from Plainview could blind the best. The pride runs almost as deep as the rooted families that have carried on the stories and traditions of this great place. It is the people that stop by that get the opportunity to let some of that powerful blue and white spirit shine on them that are the lucky ones.
Moments When We Aren't Ourselves

Right: Alyssa Splitter shows off her Everlast 16-ounce gloves on Boxer Day, rocking that black eye!

Top and Bottom:
Emma Frey, Alex Schmidt, and Rooney Fehr are all having the best time ever during "Ships and Sailors" at Homecoming.
VJ Christophersen, Mr. Pope, Alyssa Splitter, and Austin Healy pose for a photo after winning a favorite sports dress-up day and Boxer Day during Homecoming week.

2/15/14
Guest Michael Blodgett and Hawks Jared Wandering, and Thomas Specht all tore up the floor at the dance.

2/15/14
Ryan Koeller was tricked into actually dancing at the Homecoming Dance—how did that happen?

2/11/14
Alyssa Splitter dressed up as Fix-It Felix from Wreck-It Ralph.

2/11/14
Joey Specht looked great as a mini Steve Urkle.

2/13/14
Seth Splitter and Morgan Blodgett crowned Homecoming King and Queen at halftime of the basketball game.

2/12/14
VJ Christophersen showed up to school wearing boxes. Great creativity, VJ!
What would you call this: Made In China Monster, Godzilla, Tri-Rex?
It's up to you! Morgan, Ebanee, and Elizabeth get their picture taken with the red "Godzilla."

It's not a vacation and it's not a free day, but it sure feels like it when a field trip comes around. These can be some of the best days of the year, and Plainview makes it so. There have been many cool places that we students have gone to including The Denver Mint, Denver Art Museum, The Denver Zoo, and many more.

Actually, those were all one trip. Throw in a ski trip to Monarch in the spring, a play in Tribune and Old Bent's Fort, and you have a lot of free days students enjoyed!
Top: The end of the year field trip crew at the end of the day at where else? The Denver Zoo.
Bottom: The ski trip crew ready to hit the slopes and take off on an adventure.

For every Field trip, There is a GROUP.

[5/20/14] On the bus ride home from Denver, some students got sick...YUCK!

[5/20/14] Justin used dolphin sounds on his iPhone in order to attract a bevy of ferrets.

[5/20/14] Justin attempted to feed a random squirrel a potato chip...hmmm, what could possibly go wrong?

[5/20/14] Coach Koeller parallel parked the bus! His first trip to the big city was a success!

[5/20/14] The mint gave out free samples...the money kind, not the candy kind...and they were pennies. So much for free samples.

[5/20/14] Art was proved weird at the art museum...prompting many to foolishly declare that "I could paint that."
Once a year the seniors get together and plan an evening of fun for the school and community: the Senior Carnival. The 2014 Carnival had many interesting and unique booths. The seniors provided the dinner and a form of entertainment and excitement through the pie toss. The eighth graders provided one of the messiest booths with the egg toss. The sophomores and freshman got soaking wet in the dunk tank. The juniors gave everyone refreshments with their shaved ice booth. The sophomores also provided a cake walk, that made a couple of people "cheat" on their diets because of the delicious treats. Sharon Arns, a community member, also provided a booth with scrumptious chocolate treats and good-smelling Scentsy. By the end of the night, everyone was exhausted—it was a success!
Top: Jared FALLS into the dunk tank after Joey Specht has a direct hit!
Far Right: Kristin, you look lovely in whipped cream!

Bottom: Bullseye!! Elijah Harkness hits Alyssa Splitter in the face with a pie.

Dissection, Explosions, and Physics

A World of Its Own. In a world where fun and learning meet, we find ourselves in the room of Lani Dorow, the "Science Guru" of Plainview. This may be the room where a majority of the messes are made, but along with those messes some of the best memories are forged for the young people of Plainview. This is the room where most students meet and visit in the morning and end their day by saying goodbye to one of their favorite teachers. Science for sure is one of the most favored classes for Plainview's junior and senior high school.

- 1/8/14 - Ag Science changed into Animal Science!
- 3/2/14 - Biology got into genetics! Now we can find out why we are the way we are!
- 3/3/14 - Quinton managed to not only trip over his bag but his own feet.
- 1/19/14 - Screams could be heard across the school as a spider landed on Mrs. Dorow's desk!

Labs are a class favorite for two reasons:
Fire and Harmful Chemicals!
Mid-Fair Madness!!

Nerves get high and butterflies form in the stomach when the judges roll around. "What do they think?", "Did I do well?", and "How was my presentation?" are questions frequently asked after being judged at science fair.

The Experiments and the Competition

Ready, Set, Experiment!! Great minds don’t always think alike, and science fair just goes to prove that. The "brainiacs" of Plainview get together for a competition to see who has the better project. These projects are started in the fall, and nurtured for almost half the school year with experimentation, data analysis, and the time and effort required in planning how their efforts are going to be displayed on the board. After weeks of preparation, the big day arrives. They need to be ready to be judged—presenting their projects and answering questions in hopes that they will place and move on to regionals. Everyone was praised for their great ideas that were demonstrated through their tireless efforts.
"Grammar Nazi" Central

English Class:
The language of man is taught by the one and only Ruth Fees. Her new room has become accustomed to her books and tables filled with the knowledge to push students to do their best. Although most students find themselves struggling in the beginning of their years with Miss Fees, they discover a soft spot in their hearts for her by the end. They find the funny moments in the struggles of trying to better themselves. Each one of Plainview's young students find a way to take the good with the bad and prosper above all else.

Where Equations Come to Life

Math Class
The confusing language of arithmetic is taught by the very patient Ms. Wilson. She takes her time to make sure that each one of her students is comprehending this difficult subject. During this trying time, Ms. Wilson lightens the load by sprinkling her lessons with humor and Star Trek trivia. Did you know that "red shirts" always die? This is one of the very important lessons Ms. Wilson has taught her students. But back to math—she is an excellent teacher, deserves much appreciation, and her students are very lucky to have her. Thanks, Ms. Wilson!

Knowledge Bowl

This Year, the Plainview high school Knowledge Bowl team tried their hardest; placing third at the meets in Vilas, the meet here at Plainview, and placing fourth at the Regional Knowledge Bowl Meet in Lamar. They are all looking forward to next season in hopes that they will go far and learn a lot more.
Days of our lives,
we will never forget.

Meet Here,
And Explore the World!

See the Cultures of the World!
Come one, come all to Plainview's Friday enrichment classes. Meet people from around the world as you learn their culture. Dive into the history and the favorite pastimes of other nations, such as soccer, cooking, art and much more; exploring the world, all while sitting down. The students of Plainview "visited" Spain, Russia, Italy, China and so many more interesting places, took so many classes and met truly interesting people (such as Renzo Riddol), and enjoyed one of the most wonderful events here at Plainview School! Hearing from a world famous restoration artist who spent ten years working on restoring the Sistine Chapel was truly a "once in a lifetime" experience! As the students were told, get out and explore the world!

Whether your playing basketball or running, weight-lifting, throwing the football, or playing dodgeball, there is always something fun to do and always people to help you push through it. The excellent coaches here at Plainview also give motivation to keep you going even when you are down. P.E. is truly a period to go and get 'em.

Our Days Explained

Our World, Our Knowledge! The classroom where time matters belongs to Mr. Pape. The history teacher who scares some students, but challenges many to not only have a good time, but to do the best they can. This is the classroom where many students manage to test their memory and critical thinking skills and master them to the point of no return, whether it’s history, government, or reading and speech. This is the classroom where arguments are constructed and presented that leave kids talking for years. THIS’s the Social Studies room.

Colorado Close-Up 2014

The Government class, made up of juniors and seniors, had the opportunity to go to Denver and observe first-hand Colorado’s state and Denver’s city governments. They got to meet the Mayor of Denver, the Colorado Speaker of the House, senators, representatives, and many other important people in our government. But the all around favorite place had to be Chicken Lips, a comedy theatre, where impromptu craziness was not only accepted, but expected and encouraged.

Giving You this Moment

Our Hard Work! The yearbook staff works hard all year taking pictures, designing formats, editing photos, and selling ads to give you a book that looks good and captures the memories of the year. As advisor, Mr. Pope works hard all year keeping the staff on task and making sure every detail is attended to. Editors Alyssa Spliter and Morgan Blodgett were the student leaders of the book, giving inspiration and guidance to those students under the supervision of Mr. Pope. This book took many tedious hours to create and we, the yearbook staff, hope that you enjoy every MOMENT of it.

Josh and Kristin “miss” an awesome shot. Who took the picture? That’s what we would like to know.

The Best of the Best Playing Together

Two players from the Eads Volleyball team of 2013 had the honor of playing at the All-State games this year. Dorian Ray and Alyssa Splitter (our own Hawk representative) were two of eighteen athletes in the 1A division nominated for the games. "The games were LOADS of fun! I got to meet and play with some great athletes from around the state. It was a blast!" - Alyssa Splitter.

2013 is a year to remember for Eads volleyball. The team soared to great heights and did a lot things to be proud of during the season and post season. Plainview was represented by Senior Alyssa Splitter in Eads. This was her fourth year as a temporary Eagle. The season was one of the most successful seasons Eads has had in many years, with the team's record ending at 28-4. At districts they fought hard for their three-peat championship, but came up short in the championship game. At regionals, they gained the title "Back-to-Back Regional Champs" by dominating in their pool. At state, they fought hard. Their last game of their pool play was against Fleming, the eventual state champions, who they barely lost to. "The year ended on a sad note, but it was an amazing season none the less," stated Alyssa Splitter at the end of the season. But although the regular season was over, it wasn't the end of volleyball for Alyssa. She was able to play in the All-State games. What is to come in the next few years for Plainview and Eads? Only time will tell.

Why? This isn't the same as standing there looking pretty waiting for a ball to hit your hands for you to shoot. This is a whole different game. This is the real deal. This is a team of athletes fighting to make a change. This is a group of kids willing to put everything they have into hours of game plays, tons of sweat, and moments of tears. In return for what? For thirty-two minutes of all out game-time. Thirty-two minutes to show that crowd why they woke up and decided to give this school a second look. This year Plainview turned their season around. They showed more than they thought they could. And people ask, why? Because those players matter and they want more than what the average team has. They fought harder and worked longer because they decided to put their heart and soul into the game and that alone changed each of their lives. During this pivotal season, Justin Rodriguez earned All-Conference honors, along with Seth Spliter and Ryan Koeller who were Honorable Mention. We're looking for more next season from a group who will be more seasoned. The Hawks made great strides this year, and are looking forward to their first full varsity schedule in a long, long time. Good luck to our Hawks!!!!

Hawk Q&A

Straight from the players!!

Why do you continuously play basketball?
Because it is the best thing in life. -Justin Rodriguez

What is the best part of basketball?
"Having a good time with my friends and shooting for a common goal." -Seth Spliter

Did you try your hardest each and every game?
"There is no way that I couldn't have." -Thomas Specht

What was your biggest challenge?
"Keeping up with the faster players who always helped me think of how good I could be." -Ebanee Moyers

Good Job

Beat the Best. Dirt, dirt, and some more dirt—that is what Plainview High School track consists of. Most wouldn't be able to stick it out. Most would wimp out and run from the challenge to do something more entertaining, but certainly less difficult. It is those kids left on the track that practice to no end; the ones jumping on a high jump mat, the ones throwing heavy objects into the air, that show dedication. This sport requires more than a little effort. A steady diet, everyday practice, and constant work to get anywhere. This is the sport that defines many athletes. The ones that cannot get enough go out for track. The sport where your objective is to beat your worst enemy, yourself. Those who answered that challenge were Alyssa Splitter, Thomas Specht, Ryan Koeller, and their manager and photo journalist, Kristin Arns. With two of the three qualified for state, Alyssa and Ryan answered the bell and confirmed that what they accomplished was a job well done.

Cheerleading

Stop and go...one, two, three, and four... Plainview cheerleading involves girls and boys working hard to learn books full of cheers just for the fans in the stands. After all, the job of a cheerleader or yell leader is to encourage everyone around them to do positive things, make the team get "pumped up," and to make sure they are doing all they can to keep everything flowing so there isn’t a quiet moment. The job of these dedicated individuals is to keep the heart of the school at an all-time high...and those are some pretty big expectations to fill. Led by Ruth Fees, they do their job and they do it to the best of their abilities. They find not only time amid their busy school schedule to decorate Plainview, but time to practice all the things they need to know to perform the best they can when called upon. Games, pep rallies, Homecoming, and locker decorating are just some of the things these extra-spirited students do during the year. So hats off to Athena Crum, Kayla Wanderlingh, Ethan Strong, Benji Davis, Kayden Moser, and our lone high school cheerleader, Ebanee Moyers on a job well done. We look forward to seeing you all cheering on the sidelines next year. GO HAWKS!!!!!

Lost game of the season! A hard fight, but sadly a loss in the end.

Soaring High.
The Junior High Volleyball team had, by all accounts, a very good season. Starting out the year they had a new coach, Candi Frey. Candi was a great addition to the team, leading them to several victories, the first for Plainview Junior High in years. She brought a new perspective and fresh enthusiasm to a group that thirsted for it. "The improvements that were made this year were outstanding. I have worked with these athletes for two years and have watched in years past, and this year was by far their best year," said teacher's aide for the junior high team, Alyssa Splitter. The team had three eighth graders who have given a lot to the team in the past four years. It is easy to say that everyone was and is super proud of the team's accomplishments this year.

Lydia Splitter "I will miss playing with the kids, but we improved a lot throughout the years."

Grant Specht "It was fun! I had a lot of fun doing it and I hope all the others enjoyed it too."

Nicholas Crum "Volleyball was fun and very interesting. I had a lot of fun and think everyone else had fun, too."

Hawk Basketball

This is a game like no other. Basketball is a game that calls every person to give the team their full dedication. It will bring out the wild side in you. No one will ever be more passionate about basketball like the HAWKS. When they play, they hold nothing back! You give it your all or get off the court. But it is more than five individuals playing—it is one team. Only from playing together will they win and find their true potential.

This season, the Plainview junior high basketball team had a real learning experience. The girls had a few great wins at the beginning and only got better, of course. The Hawks, including Athena Crum, Lisa Dyck, and Lydia Splitter all showed the great sportsmanship that Plainview is known for, win or lose. Though they weren’t undefeated, and they may have not had the most wins, both teams had fun and did their best through out the season, and are all hoping to be able to have an even better season next year.

What It's All About

The Team says goodbye this year to Lydia Splitter, Grant Specht, Nick Crum, and Justin Dirks as they move on up to High School and wish to play with the "big dogs". The whole team is very grateful to all of the support given from Coach Glidden, Assistant Coach Priddy and all the parents and community members who were there all season to cheer everyone on. They sure did work really hard and they just can’t wait to see what next season has in hold for them. GOOD JOB!!

Memories of Junior High Track

Even though some junior high track kids might not be in track next year, they have left a legacy of motivation, determination, and fun that will be passed onto those who will participate in the future of junior high track. May our wonderful track kids continue to compete next year. GO PLAINVIEW!

Hawk Track

The JH Track Team.
Through hard work, trial and error, laughter and jokes, and even some practice, comes the junior high track team of Plainview. They started slow and grew faster then one could have expected them to do. They learned many valuable lessons that they will keep with them the rest of their lives. Their hard work and dedication has not only put Plainview on the map, but also proved that we work hard to get what we want. Don’t be fooled by their small appearance, as many of us have before, but instead understand that they are a hard working team that will never give up, no matter the circumstances.

Granada Baseball

Baseball has always been considered the All-American pastime and continues to be to this day. It is a popular sport that is played all over the world. As for the Granada Bobcats, they started out with hopes of a great season. They played well and worked together every game to get as far as they could together, including encouraging a newcomer, freshman Ryan Koeller who eventually became their "ace," struck out thirteen batters, and pitched a perfect game, which doesn't happen too often. The team then made their way to the district tournament where sadly, their season ended. But with hard work, effort, and team work, they will go far and are bound and determined to make it to the state playoffs next year! Good job boys, and good luck!

What was your ABSOLUTE favorite part of playing baseball with the Granada Bobcats?

"Seeing all of my friends that I have played with since I was younger and letting those moments bring back "those feelings."
-Ryan Koeller

Granada Bobcats
Field day is one of the most anticipated and exciting days in the mind of almost every elementary student. This is the annual day when Kit Carson, Cheyenne Wells, and Plainview all come together, with the help of the teachers and some of the high school students, at the Cheyenne Wells track to see which elementary students will excel in their favorite field day events. It is also a very exciting experience for the parents who come to watch their children compete. Not only do the kids feel accomplished but so do their parents. It's a great day of fun that begins to wind down the year for our youngsters, and they have a chance to win some ribbons as well for their efforts. So let's give a big "hats off" to all that make this day possible—keep up the good work!

5/8/14

Kristin looked beautiful debuting her new "uni-brow."
PLAY DAY! One of the most exciting days of the year. All the blood, sweat, and tears are finally about to pay off. The title "Fools" was oh so fitting for this group of actors; everyone was able to show their "true colors" as they ran about the stage completely clueless. Learning lines, building sets, and making sure all the lighting and sound was just right made this one of Plainview's biggest undertakings of the school year. Without the help of former Hawk and "Fools" director Philip Splitter, the quality of the production would surely not have been so professional. This was the second time Plainview put on the Neil Simon play, with Thomas Specht playing the eager school master Leon Tolchinsky, looking to make an impact on a community cursed in stupidity. He meets and falls in love with the fair Sophia played by Katelyn Wanderlingh who must learn something if this centuries-old curse is to be lifted. Along the way, the audience met some colorful characters from the Ukrainian town of Kulyenchikov who made this play all the more memorable. This truly was a "Fool's Paradise," and laughter proved to be its key to eternal happiness.
Prom

Dancing and Fun

10/3/14 Alyssa looked in the mirror at her hair and shouted, "FIX IT, FIX IT, FIX IT!!!!!!!"

10/3/14 Katelyn thought she needed THREE desserts after the meal.

10/3/14 Kristin exhibited the wonderful gift of being able to stick spoons to parts of her face.

10/3/14 VJ not only devoured his date's head, but ate the rest of her as well! (FYI...She was made of bacon.)
Prom, the dance of sheer elegance, where all the high schoolers come together for this beautiful and highly anticipated night. Well, this isn't exactly the case with our school. Every year the decorations look gorgeous, however, the students might not exactly be described as "elegant" during this dance, before the dance, and certainly not after the dance. Over the years prom has turned into a night to see who can embarrass themselves the most with their, oh so wonderful, awkward dance moves. Of course, some of the songs are danced seriously too, but don't expect to see the kids acting "cool." The evening began with the appropriate toast, continued on with delicious food, the reading of the senior wills, and then, of course, Mr. Pape's always much anticipated Senior Prophecy. The western theme was beautifully put together and offered a wonderful backdrop for the dancing and fun that was Prom 2014.
Awards

Achievement

5/15/14
Ebannée received her very first academic achievement award from Mrs. Dorow.

5/15/14
Alyssa and Katelyn were late, as usual.

5/15/14
Thomas Specht was awarded Mr. PHS, while Morgan Blodgett received Miss PHS honors.

5/15/14
Austin received the world history award from Mr. Pape.
Dedication and hard work, these are the attributes that are required to get an award at Plainview. Everyone who was awarded earned it fair and square. Throughout our lives we are taught that working hard will be the key to success. That is precisely what these students did. However, those students wouldn’t be getting awarded at all if not for the hard work of the teachers, coaches and other members of the staff. The responsibility of the students is to do their absolute best and to be the best that they can be in life. Their goal should to make everyone around them proud.
Graduation

College, here we come!

Accomplishment

5/25/14
Kristin forgot where she had to stand.

5/25/14
All of the awkward hugging...and there was plenty of it!

5/25/14
Mr. Pape wondered if Ms. Fees was being paid by the word...that was a LONG introduction!

5/25/14
Alyssa almost had a panic attack when the slide show wouldn't work...luckily, everything was back on track soon enough...whew!!!
It is days like this that were meant to be remembered and cherished. Days like this are what start a new chapter in the lives of the students newly graduated from Plainview. These are the steps that bring them closer to who they are supposed to be. These are the days when their parents can look up on the stage and smile and remember all the challenges and obstacles they have helped their children through. This is the time to remember their first day of school; the nerves they had stepping into their kindergarten class for the first time, feeling that same set of nerves return to their stomachs as they shake hands with the administration on receiving their diploma, a prize which they have worked so hard for. This is the time students become young adults. So good luck, Class of 2014...it’s on to life!
Fun in Florida

5/27/14
The seniors broke their very first ride!

5/28/14

6/1/14
OUR KNIGHT WON!!! WHOOTII WHOOTIIIIIIIIII At Medieval Times, of course.

6/2/14
The Mummy ride was the BEST! We went on it about 6 times...
This is the moment they have been waiting for all their lives. All those years of papers and projects are about to pay off. Senior Sneak is the ultimate gift to the seniors who have worked endlessly to ensure good grades. I mean, seriously, what is better than a "free" trip? I guess they did have to work for it, but hey, it's a vacation nonetheless. This particular group of girls was led by the fearless Ms. Fees and her sidekick, Sharon Arns. This courageous bunch traveled the world! Errr, actually, just Florida. But hey, it seemed like the other end of the world considering how far away from home it was! While traveling the "world," they met all different kinds of people and encountered all different kinds of experiences from Disney World, Universal Studios, all the way to Daytona Beach. Although they each enjoyed Florida thoroughly, they soon realized, "There's no place like home."
